VistaVu expansion gains momentum in U.S. and Canada

Acquisition, seminars and new sales relationships build robust presence in key North American oil- and gas-producing regions.

CALGARY, October 9 – From Texas to the Rocky Mountains to northern Alberta, oil and gas service companies are looking for tools to make their businesses more profitable. In all three of these prominent oil- and gas-producing regions, VistaVu Solutions is answering the call.

“We believe that energy services is an underserved market for business software,” says Jory Lamb, President and CEO. “This fall, we are reaching out to these companies with proven software to help them manage day-to-day operations better.”

Powered by SAP Business One, VistaVu’s FieldVu solution lets field service companies manage jobs, labor, costs, equipment and profitability as never before. Between now and December, a series of Toolbox Luncheons in Midland and Houston, Texas and Edmonton and Red Deer, Alberta will give companies an up-close look at all that FieldVu can do.

The Toolbox Luncheons are just one of the ways VistaVu will be connecting with clients and potential clients over the next few months. The company recently established new sales agent relationships in Tulsa and Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. The recent acquisition of the SAP consulting practice of Dallas-area SRH Consulting LLC is further strengthening VistaVu’s reach in the dynamic Texas market.

New client relationships in Casper, Wyoming and northern Alberta also show that companies’ desire to see the whole picture runs across regions and national borders.

“Based on the feedback of over 50 VistaVu clients, the issues are largely the same whether you’re in Texas, the Rockies or northern Alberta,” he says. “Field service companies spend vast amounts of capital on people and equipment, and they want to know what’s going on in the field, in real time, so they can make better decisions. That’s the power of FieldVu and that’s the expertise of VistaVu Solutions.”
